NOTES

W.K. Snyder,
Field Supervisor

Bang's vaccination drive will commence immediately. Dr. Anderson and his assistant Dr. Macchelle will put forth every effort to complete this job within the shortest possible time. All heifer calves up to one year, unless they are in calf, will be vaccinated. Since this is the first time vaccination is to be undertaken in many herds there will be quite a variation in age — from four months to one year in some instances. After this year, two drives will be made each year, one in May or June and one in October or November.

It will be possible then to vaccinate all the heifer calves close to the age of six to eight months. Some cattle owners have been voluntarily doing this for a number of years. Last year about 2300 heifer calves were vaccinated in this municipality, which represents approximately 25 per cent of the estimated heifer calves. This vaccination can be done only by a registered veterinarian.

Don't confuse this Bang's vaccination with blackleg or shipping fever vaccinations which most cattlemen are able to do themselves. It is estimated that Bang's disease is 10 times more prevalent among cattle than T.B. Needless to say, breeding stock which has been vaccinated and is immune to the disease will command premium prices. Furthermore, preventing undulant fever among humans by eliminating disease-carrying milk cows is also very worthwhile.

Following this issue of the notes is a complete copy of the agreement between Dr. Anderson and the municipal council pertaining to the vaccination of all heifer calves of a certain age group. Read it over carefully so that you will be fully informed. Better still, cut it out and keep it for future reference. From week to week through these columns I will keep you informed of the progress being made.

1. Bang's vaccination drives will be made in or around April and October of a given year for the purpose of vaccinating female calves between the ages of 4 - 8 months against Bang's disease, or at ages in accordance with the regulations which do allow vaccination over 8 months of age — may even be up to a year of age if weather and roads get bad and delay the program.

(Vaccination of male calves to be optional.)
2. No transportation will be supplied by the municipality when vaccinating.

THE THRILL OF ANTICIPATION

There is one common experience we all share — the enjoyment of having something to look forward to. It leavens the ordinary routine of everyday living and gives zest to the greyest day.

Everyone, old and young, know the thrill of anticipation. You feel it in the air just now. November is the prelude to the most wonderful month of the year — the month when the scars and ugliness of the world's face are hidden beneath a benign expression of tolerance and goodwill. Less than five weeks to Christmas is that not something to look forward to — even though it brings with it those seasonal problems of buying and giving? But would you have it different?

From now until Christmas Eve many secret discussions will take place, precious sleep lost and economies effected, but time spent of giving joy and pleasure to others is time well spent. It brings its own reward.

The thrill of anticipation is not engendered only by special dates on the calendar. It applies to the most ordinary events in our lives — a visit to a friend's home; a birthday celebration; a night out on your own, or simply wearing a new dress or hat for the first time.

Ordinary enough experiences, but anticipation gives them sparkle and colour. They become 'highlights' and stand out like beacons on the way ahead.

There is no mystery about it. The secret is in ourselves. What we see in others and in the outside world is merely a reflection of our own mood and thoughts.

If there is one thing better than merely looking forward, it is looking forward happily, confidently.

While all of us have frequently known temporary sparkle and uplift, few have discovered the secret of making it play a full-time part in their lives. Those who do apply it successfully do not expect too much from life; certainly not more than they put into it.

Generally they are cheerful people, accepting the bad with the good. They expect hard knocks, but their anticipation is never crushed. They are the kind of folk who see a silvery lining in the darkest sky.

People of cheerful heart never lose faith nor their sense of proportion. They keep looking forward, ever happily, ever hopefully, but never selfishly.

Through The Study Window

By REV. C. C. ARMSTRONG

An actor once made the caustic comment that some people uttered Christian truth as if it were fiction. While actors presented fiction as if it were the Gospel truth. We have had reason to contemplate the truths of which the actor spoke as evidence of this there is the story of "The Canadian Who Wouldn't Talk" and the movie "The Robe", currently showing in Calgary.

The first story was originally presented as the true account of a man's experiences as an underground resistance leader masquerading as an idiot, and who under torture was able to maintain amazing personal integrity, an integrity sustained by faith. It has since been revealed as a fabrication, and the heroic virtues and the heroic virtues are fictional. The man who told the story now has to face a further ordeal, to vindicate his good name, not through heroic resistance to physical torture but through humble, prosaic day by day adherence to the simple truth he has to a very large extent lost his good name, which as the dramatist Shakespeare has said "leaves him poor indeed." But there is for him an opportunity to demonstrate in real life that there is redemptive power in Gospel truth, where his own moral failures became not a stumbling block to himself and to those who trusted in him, but stepping stones to rise from his assumed nature, his dead self, to become once again an inspiration to youth. One is happy to know that he is being allowed to retain his present job, and that his wife reports that people have been unbelievably kind.

The second story, "The Robe", by Lloyd C. Douglas, is a genuine attempt, through fictional form, to present Christian truth and to reveal the transforming power of the Robe of Christ. It has been made into a movie employing the latest photographic gadgets to give it the illusion or appearance of depth and reality, to make it "come alive" on the screen, a massive one over 90 feet across, curved and permitting special sound effects. I think that

WEST NOTES

(Intended For Last Week)

The Elton Willing Workers met at the home of Mrs. J. Bagshaw Wednesday last and the comforter was tied for the Old Folks' Home.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Byrt Sr. will be grandmothers' day and there will also be a gift exchange.

Mrs. L. Papke had the lucky number for the tea draw and the meeting closed with "God Save the Queen."

Mr. and Mrs. J. Camps of Carstairs and Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Hogg and Mrs. N. Rigby of Redwater visited with Mr. and Mrs. W. Rigby on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Banting and Mrs. Banting Sr. spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Winchell west of Water Valley.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Bagshaw and Mrs. Byrt visited Mr. and Mrs. F. Byrt at Madden on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Hogg were dinner guests with Mr. and Mrs. G. Wilson, west of Cremona, on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Sissons and family of Clive spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. H. Hosegood.

We hope all organizations will be interested in the miscellaneous show to be held Saturday, Nov. 28 in the afternoon in the basement of Knox United Church, in aid of the Old Folks' Home. Canned goods, household linen, etc., will be most welcome.

All who have read "The Robe" will want to see this picture.

There are those who object to the commercial use of religious subjects and employ them for their own gain as producers and actors. Churches are attempting to produce pictures of inspirational worth and technical excellence that will be devoid of any appearance of evil. But at the same time one must state that the material of "The Robe" has been reverently handled, and if through it the casual and the careless can be presented with the undoubted fact and truth that Christianity converted pagan Roman, even at the cost of martyrdom, then one must accept it as a helpful means of presenting Christian truth, and not as fiction but as the presentation of assured fact.

DISTRICT NEWS

M.V.B.C. NEWS

Rev. D. M. Taylor has completed his revival meetings in the Mountain View Church. He has reported good attendance throughout.

On Sunday six appointments in the conference were privileged to have students and faculty members serving in the Sunday schools and preaching services. Among these we want particularly to note that a group of students spent the weekend on the Big Horn Indian Reserve where two graduates from the college, Misses Jean Flinn and Jean Burkholder, are serving as missionaries. Several groups attended members of the faculty in their drive for funds for the extension work of the conference as they build their churches in Calgary. Another group went to Edmonton and Redwater for the same purpose. Others went to May City church east of Olds. And so the work goes on and students of the college receive much practical work as well as academic class work.

The Community Choral Society is really enthusiastic about the work they are doing for the winter season. Mr. Laak, the director, has received copies of "The Holy City" and last Monday scanned the entire work with the society. One and one-half hours of intensive singing will result in a good production next spring, we are sure. If you sing, and you haven't joined yet, do so at once. Remember, Monday, 8 p.m.

If you haven't listened to the Good News Program over CKXL Sunday morning at 7:30 a.m., you are really missing something. Miss Mary Walsh, dean of women, was a visitor in Edmonton last week as she attended the yearly Preacher's Convention of the Nazarene Church. Some outstanding speakers were present.

Arthur Eby, maintenance superintendent was released to help with the McDougall Plaza parsonage for several days last week. A number of persons locally have been helping to get this work done. Rev. and Mrs. Gordon Dedels are the pastors there.

WEDDINGS

THOMPSON — SPRAGGS

At recent wedding ceremony in Knox United Church, Miss Shirley Yvonne Spraggs became the bride of Mr. Donald Lloyd Thompson. Rev. C. C. Armstrong officiated. The bride is the eldest daughter of Mr. Patrick A. Spraggs and the groom is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred E. Thompson.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a bouffant gown of white nylon tulle mounted over taffeta and lace with veil of embroidered illusion. She carried white mums and wore a gold pendant, gift of the groom.

Miss Mary Spraggs, sister of the bride, as bridesmaid, wore pastel blue lace with nylon over taffeta with a bouquet of pink carnations. Miss Patsy Spraggs, also a sister, was maid of honor, her gown being of pink taffeta with matching bouquet of roses.

Mr. Thomas Patterson was best man and Mr. Ronald Milne completed the wedding party.

Mrs. Carlton Leeson played the wedding music and a solo during the signing of the register. Mrs. Spraggs chose a wine taffeta frock with black accessories and corsage of red rose buds. The groom's mother wore navy crepe with white lace and matching accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

Notes From D.A.

By Hugh McPhail

A number of people have complained about the number of potatoes that are green this year because of exposure to the sun. Some who hilled their potatoes had this trouble and so did some that did not hill at all.

Potatoes should be hilled, but not until the small potatoes have formed, as these will form near the surface of the ground and as they grow they will be exposed. By hilling after the potatoes are formed exposure is prevented.

After the ceremony a reception was held for immediate families at the home of the bride's parents. The table was centred with a three-tiered wedding cake and decorated in pink and white.

Open house for friends and neighbors was held at the home of the groom's parents, followed by a wedding dance at Lone Pine hall. After a short honeymoon the happy couple returned to the groom's farm in the Jutland district.

KIMMEL — BLOCK

Chrysanthemums and carnations in shades of white and pink graced the altar of Knox United Church, Didsbury, for the afternoon wedding of Miss Laura Janet Block and Mr. Richard Abner Kimmel.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Ruby Block and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Kimmel of Didsbury.

Rev. C. C. Armstrong read the marriage lines for the double-ring service, in which the bride entered the church with her uncle, Mr. Harvey Heurickson. She wore a strapless bouffant gown of white nylon net, with lace inserts. The lace jacket had a Peter Pan collar and long lily point sleeves. Her fingertip veil was held in place by a matching lace and seed pearl bonnet and she carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations and pink rosebuds. She wore a string of pearls, gift of the groom.

A trio of attendants preceded the bride down the aisle. They were Mrs. Glen Kline, who as matron of honor wore a yellow strapless dress of nylon net with lace bolero. Miss Elaine Kimmel, as bridesmaid, wore green eyelid embroidery and nylon net. The attendants, both sisters of the groom, wore matching head-dresses and carried colonial bouquets of Ko-Ko-Mo carnations.

Wanda Tuggle, as flower girl, wore pink nylon net and lace with a headress of pink net and rosebuds. She carried a nosegay of sweetheart roses.

Mr. Barney Hunsperger was best man. Ushering guests to pews marked with white wedding bells and satin bows, were Mr. Ken Gillie and Mr. Glen Kline.

Wedding music was played by Mr. Bryce Thompson and Mr. Geo. Thring sang "A Wedding Prayer" during the ceremony and "Through The Years" while the register was being signed.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Block wore a rose wool dress, complemented with a black velvet hat and a corsage of pink carnations.

The groom's mother chose a green wool dress with beige accessories and her corsage was of Ko-Ko-Mo carnations.

Later a reception for 80 guests was held in the church parlors. A three-tiered wedding cake embedded in pink tulle centred the bride's table, which was decorated with pink carnations and lighted candles in crystal candelabra.

Dr. C. T. McNichol introduced Mr. Jay Tuggle who proposed the toast to the bride, and Mr. Barney Hunsperger who proposed a toast to the bridesmaids.

For the honeymoon to points in the Western States, the bride donned a blue wool dress with pink and black accessories and topped with a brown mouton coat, with a corsage of sweetheart roses.

OUR FOUNDER

Dear Friends:

Yes, 1903 was the year. It hardly seems possible that 50 years have slipped away since opening our store at Didsbury in the horse and buggy days. Through ups and downs the years rolled by successfully.

In 1936 we opened a store at Innisfail and by the same policy of direct factory purchasing of quality merchandise we have reached this, our Golden Anniversary.

It is our earnest hope that a continuance of your patronage will be our good fortune in the future.
